

Weekly Update

Have you seen our new website?

As part of our ongoing commitment to engagement with the public and our colleagues we have reviewed and updated the Better Care Together website.

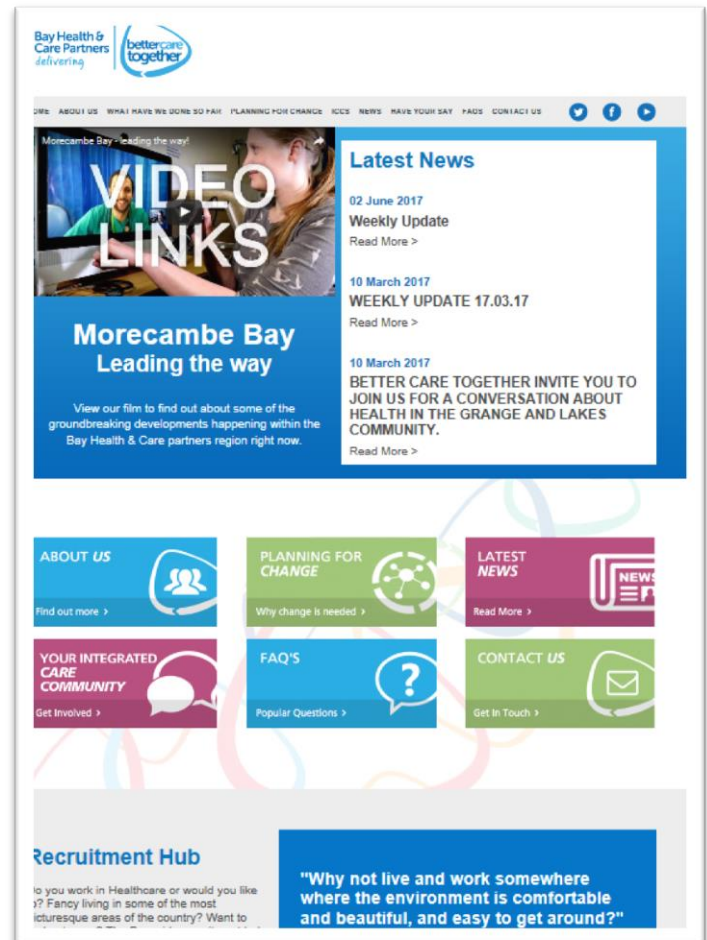

In particular we've launched a new interactive Integrated Care Community (ICC) map, which helps you find out more about your local area.

Our previous website did not work fully on mobile phones or tablets and the technology had not been updated since it was launched four years ago. The new website incorporates all our previous features, so you will still find our case studies; weekly and monthly updates; and press releases.

The new website also features our latest social media posts and links directly to our YouTube channel, where you can find all our self-care films and other films we have produced.

The website address remains the same:
www.bettercaretogether.co.uk
